SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS AIDS HELPLESS CHILDREN

Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, upon her arrival in Penticton yesterday afternoon was presented with a collection box of money by four-year-old Leslie Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Howard, 266 Norton Street. The money to be used to aid helpless children in other countries was collected by the primary Sunday school class of which Leslie is a member. Dr. Hirschmanova in her 13th year in this work made her 85th speech since Nov. 1, last night at St. Saviour's hall. She estimates she travels 50,000 miles yearly and visits 14 countries in Europe and Asia.

Gov't May Extend Winter Unemployment Benefits

OTTAWA (CP) — The government may move early next week, in the face of rising unemployment, to lengthen the period for payment of special winter unemployment insurance benefits.

Labor Minister Starr said in the Commons yesterday that a decision on such an extension may be made known "in a matter of days."

The special seasonal benefits now may be paid in a 16-week period Jan. 1 to April 15. Informal sources said the period likely will be lengthened before and after these dates by a total of eight weeks, with legislation to be introduced early next week.

UNEMPLOYMENT RISE

Mr. Starr also reported a 17-per cent rise, during the three weeks up to Nov. 7, in the number of unfilled job applications at National Employment Service offices. The total rose to 327,388 from 278,698 at Oct. 17.

Inquiry Will Seek Economies Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is making "a very complete investigation" of the possibilities of establishing a commission to seek economies in government, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today.

He was asked in the Commons by A. B. Patterson (SC-Fraser Valley) whether such a commission would be formed, on the lines of the United States Hoover commission which has sought savings in U.S. government operations.

Veas Extend Welcome to Russian Team

Members of the Penticton hockey club executive and team have sent a telegram to the Russian hockey club which is opening seven game Eastern Canada tour tonight in Maple Leaf Gardens against Whitby Dunlops, Canada's representatives in the world championships.

President G. Parker told the Herald the wire was in the form of a welcome to Canada. It went on to say they were disappointed the Russian team was unable to play here but they wished them the best of luck on their present tour.

OTTAWA (CP) — Government supporter Arthur Smith asked the government last night to show a "proper lead" in relieving Canada's market-short petroleum industry of some of its current problems.

The former Progressive Conservative leader, Hon. George Drew, repeatedly demanded such a commission to cut what he called "waste and extravagance" in government. Mr. Diefenbaker also has expressed approval of such an inquiry.

George Marler, former Liberal transport minister, also asked today whether any reduction or stretch-out is being made in the transport department's spending program mapped out by the Liberal administration.

Transport Minister Hees said he knows of no stretch-out. On the whole, the program was going ahead.

Missionary Threatened By Savage Aucas Tribe

BULLETIN

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A Protestant mission headquarters said today a British missionary reported by radio he is all right and in no danger from savage Aucas Indians.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A message for a missionary surrounded by savages in the jungles of Ecuador was broadcast from Kansas City last night in hopes it may save his life — if he is still alive.

The missionary is Dr. Wilfred Tidmarsh, an Englishman, Wednesday, the savage Aucas Indians filled the air around his shack with the calls of birds and beasts.

NO EMERGENCY

Finance Minister Fleming today denied in Toronto there is an emergency in Canada's unemployment situation. "This is no time to be yielding to panic," he said. "If this is a national emergency all I can say is that practically every country in the world would like to have a national emergency like it."

Not since January, 1956, has anyone tried to Christianize the Aucas. That month five North Americans who had flown into the dense jungle were killed, impaled by needle-pointed spears.

A few weeks ago Dr. Tidmarsh, a missionary for the Christian missions in many lands, set up his shack in Aucas territory.

When his plight became known to Rachel Saint, working on the Aucas language at the Summer Institute of Linguistics in Arkansas, she had Dayuma, a 26-year-old native girl student there, make a recording, pleading with her people not to slay the white man.

The message was broadcast to Quito, Ecuador, last night and a plane will attempt to drop a tape recording of it to Dr. Tidmarsh today.

Tidmarsh has a recorder and loudspeaker, and could play the tape back for the Indians to hear. If it cannot be dropped, a plane may broadcast the appeal over the Aucas country.

Fined $52,000 on Combine Charges

"GOV'T SHOULD RESIGN" — STRACHAN

Sommers Released; More Arrests Hinted

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert E. Sommers was released on $7,500 bail last night after spending more than 12 hours in custody on a charge of conspiring to accept bribes while B.C. minister of lands and forests.

Property bail was posted at 9:30 p.m. for the 46-year-old legislator following a morning appearance in Magistrate's Court with presidents of two forest management firms with whom he is jointly charged. The three had been arrested at their homes at breakfast time.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner meanwhile disclosed that further persons may be arrested in connection with allegations against the former minister which were first made almost two years ago.

Sommers left jail several hours after Hugh W. Gray, 45, and Charles D. Shultz, 53, charged as co-conspirators in a plan to give Sommers "large rewards, advantages and benefits" in return for consideration in the granting of forest management licences. Gray and Shultz were remanded on $5,000 bail each to appear with Sommers Nov. 28 to answer the charge.

The arrests resulted in indefinite postponement of a Royal Commission hearing into the allegations and in a demand by the CCF opposition that the province's Social Credit government resign.

The attorney general declined to disclose the names of other persons who may be charged but he said the arrests have been contemplated for a week. He said the action was taken because of a threatened delay in the Royal Commission hearing.

Chief Justice Gordon Sloop, who was to have conducted the hearing, said: "I am indeed glad that my duties are over."

Robert Strachan, provincial CCF leader, said the government should resign because it has "identified itself completely" with Sommers since the allegations were first made against him.

"No government can remain in office when a cabinet minister is charged with another government member in a criminal court for his actions when he, too, was a cabinet minister," Mr. Strachan said.

5 Companies Get Maximum Penalty

TORONTO (CP) — Seven firms were fined a total of $52,000 today for operating a country-wide combine in the conveyor and power transmission equipment industry.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court fined five firms $10,000 each and two others $1,000 each.

The five are Link-Belt Limited and United Steel Corporation Limited, of Toronto; Stephens-Adamson of Belleville, Ont.; Jeffrey Manufacturing Company Limited of Montreal and Forano Limited of Plessisville, Que.

The $1,000 fines were levied against Webster-Spallwood Limited and Bond Engineering Works Limited, both of Toronto.

All seven firms pleaded guilty to the charges Monday on the opening day of the trial.

Crown Prosecutor W. D. Mundell asked for the maximum penalty of $10,000 for the five firms. He said the Webster-Spallwood and the Bond companies were small businesses and had not participated in the combine's activities as much as the other companies.

He said the seven firms had discouraged competition and had fixed prices for 20 years ending in 1952.

The case arose from an investigation by the federal justice department which led to hearings in Winnipeg and Ottawa in 1955 by the restrictive trade practices commission.

The seven convicted firms were all, at one time, members of the Conveyor and Power Transmission Institute of Canada.

Five Prairie machinery firms were involved in the earlier stages of the inquiry. However, the restrictive trade practices commission said they were not connected with arrangements made by the institute.

Service Subsidy Quibbling Scored

LASQUETI ISLAND (CP) — Residents of this community contend that Highways Minister Gagliardi is quibbling when he denies promising to subsidize Union Steamships for a weekly service to and from Lasqueti Island.

Technically, they concede, Mr. Gagliardi's statement is correct, to the extent that he did not specifically mention the Union line. But they quote a letter from Mr. Gagliardi to the Lasqueti Chamber of Commerce which said his department would subsidize "a suitable boat" if it could be done for $1,000 a month or less.

"Calling to find a ferry for service to Vancouver Island, the Lasqueti Chamber negotiated with Union Steamships for similar terms. A Union boat called here Wednesday night but that will be the last until a payment is made on the disputed subsidy."

As previously announced, the steamship company has billed Mr. Gagliardi's department at the rate of $100 a call for twice-weekly stops at Lasqueti since mid-June.

"The next move is up to the

Urges West To Revamp Israeli Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Saudi Arabia warns the West will lose the struggle for Middle East friendship unless it adopts a basic change of policy on Israel and does so quickly.

Saudi Arabian delegate Ahmad Shukairy told the UN's 82-nation special political committee that Western failures and retreats, rather than Soviet policy, may determine the winner of the contest.

He said the Western powers still could "regain" Arab friendship and co-operation by doing what Russia already has done — by outlawing Zionism, prohibiting Zionist fund raising and halting Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Canada's Big U.S. Trade Deficit Said Dangerous

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said yesterday that Canada's huge deficit in trade with the United States constitutes an "ultimate danger to this country."

He made the statement at a press conference at Montreal's Dorval airport where the 50-man Canadian trade mission gathered for its flight to Britain. It will make a month's tour of industrial centres there.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who arrived to bid the mission bon voyage, told reporters that Canada imports too much from the United States without sharing to the same extent in exports to the U.S.

That, he said, is the reason why this mission to Britain — to seek diversion of Canadian imports from the U.S. to Britain — is so important.

Canada's trade deficit with the U.S. amounted to $1,300,000,000 a year. Tendency of this deficit was to increase. If it continued, Canada would be in economic trouble — it would "constitute an ultimate danger to this country."

Reporters later asked Mr. Diefenbaker to elaborate on his statement, but he declined to go further than to say "this is an economic danger."

POLICE SEEKING ELEVATOR THIEF

OTTAWA (CP) — Anyone see an elevator go by — or up? Detective Inspector Borden Hobbs is looking for one stolen from the Orme Building on up-town Wellington Street.

The building is being demolished and the $6,000 elevator, which had been crated for shipment to Montreal was gone yesterday when workmen returned to the job.

No Agreement Made in Aden Border Dispute

LONDON (AP) — Talks between Yemen and Britain ended yesterday without agreement on Aden border dispute which for years has involved their forces in sporadic fighting in the Arabian Peninsula.

Yemeni Crown Prince Mohammed Badr left by air for Zurich without comment on his 10-day "peace" talks with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other British officials.

The foreign office said no communiqué will be issued on the talks, which had been aimed at settling disputes over the border between Yemen and the British protectorate of Aden.

U.S. to Build Missile Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department yesterday announced plans to construct a multi-million-dollar missile site near Cheyenne, Wyo., apparently to launch the first American intercontinental ballistic missile.

The defence department said construction will start in the middle of 1958 at Francis E. Warren air force base, two miles west of Cheyenne.

The announcement said only that the construction at Cheyenne is "required to support the missile program."

The U.S. does not yet claim to have perfected an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The announcement said command jurisdiction of Warren base when completed, will be transferred from the air training command to the air research and development command. The latter command now operates such test-launching sites as Patrick air force base in Florida.

18-INCH SNOWFALL

HOUGHTON, Mich. — (AP) — Snow was piled about 18 inches deep in this town at the top of Michigan's upper peninsula. The flurries continued in 28 degree weather. Most of the snow fell Tuesday, with 10 inches recorded in a 10-hour period.

New Impaired Law Advocated

VANCOUVER (CP) — New legislation to deal with drunk and impaired drivers was advocated by assistant city prosecutor Bruce Harvey at the B.C. Traffic and Safety Council annual conference yesterday.

Mr. Harvey said Vancouver traffic courts are congested with cases involving these drivers and another court may have to be set aside to handle the increasing flow.

"An average of 50 drunk or impaired driving offences now are handled each week and there is no indication that this figure will not increase."

"At present there is no law compelling anyone to take these tests. But I believe that evidence of a certain amount of alcohol in a driver should constitute a prima facie case against him of drunk or impaired driving."

Mr. Harvey said new legislation is urgently needed, because there have been no positive results in the war against drunk drivers.

Some legislation must be introduced to charge those drivers who apparently had only consumed a little alcohol.

"Statistics show that an average of 12 per cent of all drivers involved in accidents have consumed some alcohol."

Clifford Harvison, assistant RCMP Commissioner for B.C., told delegates that the greatest weapon against highway speeders was the introduction of radar. "I hope this equipment will be more extensively used because the fear of being caught with it is far greater than when a stretch of road is patrolled," he said.

Labor Plans Mass Meeting Of Unemployed

VICTORIA (CP) — A mass meeting of Victoria's unemployed is being planned by the Victoria Labor Council.

The unemployment committee of the council will call the meeting for "the purpose of organizing them into a body."

Donald Douglas, chairman of the committee, said the meeting would air the views, feelings and protests of the unemployed.

He said more than 3,600 men and women were registered as jobless with the National Employment Service, an increase of 300 over the previous week and about 1,000 over the comparative figure for 1956.

Train Derailed By Slide at Haig

HAIG, B.C. (CP) — The engine and 17 cars of a westbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train were derailed by a rockslide last night at Haig, 80 miles east of Vancouver, on the railway's main trans-continental line.

None of the train crew of five was reported injured in the accident.

The cars were carrying coal and grain. Crews began a clean-up job shortly after the trip-engine train struck the rockslide.

CPR trains were re-routed via CNR lines from Hope to Basque. The slide is reported to have occurred between a curve and tunnel on the line.

Karen Rebel Group Quits

RANGOON (AP) — After assassinating a Karen rebel leader in southeast Burma, the 136 members of his bodyguard battalion surrendered to the army yesterday.

It was the second surrender of a rebel group in 10 days.

Bo Soe, the leader of Karen rebels in Tanasserim province, was killed after his men got a go-ahead signal from the government. They had informed officials they would assassinate him because he would not surrender.

Eight separate insurrections against the central government are still going. Some have become primarily bandit operations.

Two Killed in Plane Crackup

OTTAWA (CP) — Two men were killed and one injured in the crash of a Wheeler Airlines Beaver aircraft on the Distant Early Warning radar line in the Arctic, the RCMP reported yesterday.

Names of the dead were given only as Lees, the pilot, and C. Dickson, a passenger. M. Keller of the Federal Electric Company of New Jersey, which operates the line, was injured.

Extent of Keller's injuries were not known but he was safely evacuated after the crashed plane was found.

The information concerning the crash was received in a radio-gram today from the RCMP detachment at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island.

A snowmobile is enroute to the crash scene to bring out the two

Strachan's Demand for Resignation Is Justified

Robert Strachan's demand for the resignation of the Social Credit government is completely justified. The CCF leader in his usual blunt way has called for the immediate resignation of the entire SC regime.

His appeal to every community organization, every person with the interests of the province at heart to join in his demand, is also worthy of respect. For never in the history of B.C. has such a shambles been made of decent legislation.

Had the action taken yesterday been taken two years ago we citizens of this province might have shown pride in our government. Coming as it does two years after immediate action was needed we can only bow our heads in shame at the thought that we, the people, elected this government and gave them the right to rule.

Now is a good time for us to repeat the command to Neville Chamberlain in Britain's parliament in 1939: "In the name of God, go."

Search and Rescue Squad

The formation of a Penticton and District Search and Rescue corps appears to be well on the way.

Since an appeal for such a unit in the Herald several citizens have been working behind the scenes, quietly shaping the foundations for such an organization. It is now reported that the group has over 30 volunteers and is hoping to hold its first executive meeting soon.

Most of the men showing interest in the organization of the group are experienced hunters with familiar knowledge of the terrain surrounding Penticton. In addition there are several with a knowledge of first aid, a practicing doctor, and pilots from the Penticton flying club. Though still in its most infant state the organization is ready to answer emergency calls today should the need arise.

During the next few weeks efforts will be made to locate winter equipment such as snowshoes and skis, and other gear required for a long snow covered hike. "We want to know just where to get hold of this equipment should we be called out on a winter rescue job," a spokesman for the group has said. Such a precaution is to be commended for following a mid-winter accident in the bush every minute saved is of vital importance.

There is little doubt in our mind that, if properly organized and permitted to operate efficiently, the Search and Rescue squad will prove a valuable asset to the Southern Okanagan.

"It's All Being Worked Out . . ."

A gentleman living in Langford, some eight or ten miles north of Victoria, recently asked the district coordinator for Civil Defence what the plans were for the storing of food for the many thousands of refugees scheduled to move out of Victoria in the event of attack. Co-ordinator Roger Peachey replied that the responsibility belonged to provincial officials, then added lamely that he had "no information" on the matter.

The item interests us because, like Langford and other upper Vancouver Island centres, we in the Okanagan are expected to welcome refugees in the event of total war. Like these other reception centres we need to ask about food supplies.

Mr. Peachey said that corner stores "and so forth" would be able to provide enough food for the people of Victoria for ten days after which there might be a new supply.

To this slightly nonsensical statement the man from Langford asked: "What sort of supply train are you thinking of, presuming the major centres are knocked out?" Mr. Peachey declined to reply, but he did say: "We have to be satisfied that it's all being worked out."

Our position in the Okanagan is so similar that the questions need repeating here. Could our corner stores maintain a ten day food supply for the people of Penticton plus the 40,000 refugees we are to expect? We doubt it. And where would our relief trains come from if major centres were destroyed?

The answer "it's all being worked out" is as ridiculous as the mass evacuation plan itself.

If our government believes that there will eventually be another great war and that our major centres will be attacked, then in the name of reason let their plans be formulated and made public now. And, far more important, let deep air-raid shelters be part and parcel of those plans, for it is our belief that there will be little or no time to flee.

Let the Sky be the Limit

The Edmonton Journal Canadian Pacific Airlines says it will apply to the Air Transport Board for permission to operate over a transcontinental mainline linking Vancouver and Montreal and seven cities in between them. Since this would not be possible under the air transport policy originated by the Liberal government, which its Progressive Conservative successor has yet to repudiate, the CPA move should bring the whole question of future policy to a head.

What is required is a radical revision of policy, so that Canadian scheduled carriers will be permitted to compete with one another on domestic and international routes. Initiative and enterprise in air transport thus will be given the maximum encouragement and the whole development of Canadian air transport will be strongly stimulated. All this has been urged repeatedly in these editorial columns for many years.

A competitive policy should, of course, be applied equitably throughout Canada. This means that other carriers should be permitted to compete with CPA on its northern lines, just as CPA should be permitted to compete with Trans-Canada Airlines on transcontinental routes; nor should the transcontinental competition necessarily be confined to these two carriers.

The change to a competitive policy is long overdue. Moreover, due to the dynamic nature of air transport in the modern world and its extraordinarily high growth rates, the change in Canada is a matter of urgency. In the ten-year period, 1947-56, the revenue ton-miles performed in a year by the free world's scheduled carriers quadrupled. In other words, the volume of air traffic in the free world is doubling every five years! This growth rate may well be unmatched in modern industry. In Canada, the growth rate has been comparable in recent years; in passenger traffic, the Canadian growth rate has been somewhat higher than that of the free world as a whole.

Canadians should beware of drawing from these comparisons the conclusion that the present policy, which excludes competition, has been serving them well. The basic fact is that Canada's scheduled carriers long have been and still are handling a lower volume of business, per capita, than their American or Australian counterparts. At home, our carriers have been operating in an unsatisfied market and their somewhat higher growth rate in passenger traffic, mostly due to TCA, reflects that fact. In effect, this country has been trying to overtake other nations, which lead in commercial air transport, under the handicap of a restrictive policy.

Nothing is to be gained and much is likely to be lost by continuing in this way. Let's stop underestimating the market for air transport, as our government and our operators have been in the habit of doing and as the Gordon economic commission did. Air transport in the modern world is inherently and exceptionally dynamic. The Canadian industry should be given every possible opportunity to serve and to expand, at home and abroad.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

A Private Preserve

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The real issue in France's quarrel with Britain and the United States over Tunisian arms shipments is whether the West can afford to continue treating North Africa as a private French preserve.

France's long, bitter and indecisive struggle with the nationalist rebels in Algeria has been viewed by her allies. Its drain on the country's economic and military potential and its adverse effects have been recognized and unofficially deplored.

But as long as the trouble was confined to Algeria, which France insistently claims as her own territory, the U.S. and British governments have discouraged spokesmen like Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts who urged them to intervene in the dispute.

ARMS PROMISED

The Tunisian arms issue introduced a new dimension.

While the Habib Bourguiba regime makes no secret of its sympathy with the Algerian nationalists, it is strongly pro-Western, in marked contrast to most of the other newly-independent Moslem states.

In granting independence to Tunisia a year ago, the French agreed to help the new state in the formation of its own army. When friction arose over border incidents involving fleeing Algerian rebels, France accused Tunisia of aiding the insurgents and suspended the arms program.

Tunisia, denying official support of the rebellion, turned to Britain and the U.S. for help. The French, claiming the sole right to arm their former protectorate, urged their allies to refuse the Tunisian request.

RUSSIAN OFFER

With a prolonged French political crisis aggravating the situation, Britain and the U.S. recognized a pattern which has cost the West the friendship of several Middle Eastern states—Western promises of assistance followed by failure to carry them out.

The Russians were showing signs of willingness to give Tunisia what she needed.

Rather than force Bourguiba into a reluctant deal with the East, the two powers chose to risk French anger by giving him the small quantity of arms he had asked, accepting his assurance that they would not find their way across the Algerian border.

The resulting rift has to do with more than a comparatively insignificant arms shipment. Despite the strain on their traditional alliances and on the structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Britain and the U.S. were serving notice on France that something must be done about the Algerian situation.

When the first emotional reaction wears off, a French government committee to all-out war against the rebels will have to weigh its continuance against the possibility of growing isolation from France's Atlantic partners.

Science too Tough for Most Modern Youngsters

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of tomorrow's potential scientists are dying on the vine.

A scientist needs an intelligent mind, special training—often years of rigorous training—and real interest. Talent in science, say leading scientists, is essentially intense interest.

But many bright young minds are being steered away from science. Educationists and scientists cite numerous reasons.

Science and mathematics courses are not emphasized enough in schools, including early enough and well enough.

ALGEBRA HORRID

Mathematics is a cornerstone of science, but many youngsters think algebra is a horrid word, with little or no interest in it. Boring pupils may spend hours on compound interest rates which they likely never will use—rather than being made alive and interesting.

"Any good student is lured to death by the memorization of formulas and routines with which science is taught these days," says Dr. R. W. Lefler, professor of physics and education at Purdue University.

Numerous teen-agers, a Purdue survey finds, regard scientists as longhairs or squares, as unable or incapable of living a normal life, or of enjoying life.

DON'T GO BACK

Many students avoid science courses as hard, or for squares. If the science bug bites them later on in university, they find it would be necessary to go back, at extra time and expense, to make up what they had missed. So they turn to something else.

Students often avoid science because they see higher pay and rewards going to careers in selling, advertising, medicine, business, entertainment and other fields.

Some scientists make very good incomes. Some are notoriously underpaid, especially in teaching and basic research, and especially by standards of their contributions to human welfare and progress.

Money is not the sole reward for most scientists. They would like more, of course. Their rewards include doing what they like, being creative, learning more, finding values that carry no dollar sign.

BIBLE THOUGHT

Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder. Isaiah 9:6.

Not all of us are equipped to interpret profound philosophies, but a child can imitate a good example. God sent a child born in poverty in a manger, hedged about with every imaginable difficulty to illustrate how to live and walk and mark a path, a way for us to follow.

Task for Giants

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Expansion of the Commonwealth to include most of the nations of the free world is the theme of Task for Giants, a study of the growing impact of the Commonwealth on the world scene.

The author, Patrick Maitland, one of the eight members of Parliament who resigned from the Conservative party in protest against the government's "capitulation" in withdrawing British troops from Suez. He now sits in the House of Commons as an Independent Conservative.

Maitland's detailed account of the evolution of the present Commonwealth relationship contains only the barest mention of the Suez affair and does not refer to the differences among Commonwealth members at the time of the British intervention.

BONDS FLEXIBLE

But Task for Giants points to other issues between member states, such as the dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir and varying attitudes toward communism, as evidence that the bonds uniting Commonwealth states are both strong and flexible enough to stand the strain of family quarrels.

Maitland notes that the continuing Commonwealth membership of India under a republican form of government has reduced the formal tie to recognition of the Queen as head of the Commonwealth and argues that this removes the last constitutional barrier to the admission of any state wishing to join.

Commonwealth members "are associated by the interchange of knowledge, by some community of tradition, by kindred law and like institutions, especially in parliamentary government." They share "a deep-rooted, if sometimes sullied, principle of tolerance" and have "a certain commonality of culture."

Maitland argues that these terms are broad enough to permit a number of outside nations to qualify. He mentions Burma, the Sudan and Israel, all of which have had a British connection in the past, and emergent powers like Indonesia, already associated with the Commonwealth through the Colombo Plan. Eventually, the same principle could be applied to France, Germany and other Western countries.

OTTAWA REPORT

Canadian Goods Hit by Zaplitny

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Special Correspondent to The Herald

OTTAWA: "The Canadian consumer is the victim of jerry-built junk," Mr. F. S. Zaplitny told Parliament. "It is sold to him and to her through high-pressure advertising, and through appearance rather than quality."

Mr. Zaplitny gave the House of Commons, during the Throne Speech debate, the most straightforward-from-the-shoulder comments it has heard from any years on the subject of Canadian industry and commercial practices. A member of the CCF, this 44 year old insurance man from Dauphin, Manitoba, is now sitting in his third parliament.

He devoted his speech exclusively to the present trade problems of Canada, and introduced a welcome and common-sense new approach to an old political football. He did this by speaking in terms of the consumer rather than the producer, by considering the interests of the housewife who does the shopping for her family rather than the interests of the manufacturer sheltering behind our tariff wall or of the factory worker clinging to a job in an uneconomic plant.

Britain's recent offer to Canada to establish a free trade plan was a historic event, he declared. "It is a very important issue for many reasons, but even if you look at the matter purely from the point of view of dollars and cents, it is evident that it is time parliament faced this problem and dealt with it effectively at this present session, because it is obvious that the question of trade, tariffs and trade restrictions affects every Canadian at all times."

TARIFFS DOUBLE

The average Canadian family has paid no less than $1,000 in tariff duties on foreign goods during the past decade, he said. But tariffs eat into our pay packets in another way too. A sum equal to, if not greater than, that $1,000 has also been paid out by the average family in the form of artificial hoists in prices by industries which have been able to jack up their selling figures unduly because of the "umbrella protection" which our tariffs provide for them.

The establishment of a Canadian-British free trade area would have five definite advantages, Mr. Zaplitny believes.

First, it would reduce our cost of living; second, it would enable us to sell more to Britain; third, the competition would lead to an improvement in the quality of our consumer goods; fourth, it would help to level out our trade balance; and fifth, it would be a step toward improving Commonwealth solidarity. This last suggestion is especially interesting as it comes from a CCF member of Ukrainian parentage, so it is perhaps more reasoned and more deserving of our consideration than if it were prompted by the traditionally sentimental thinking of an Anglo-Saxon "old" Tory.

LET THE BUYER BEWARE

Goods, under Mr. Zaplitny, are made to sell rather than to serve.

"This is most evident with regard to consumer goods in lines such as textiles, automobiles, electrical appliances and furniture. With the exception of heavy machinery and building materials, it is my opinion that the consumer goods offered to the Canadian public by Canadian and United States manufacturers are now at an all time low."

Mr. Zaplitny's thought-provoking speech and undeniably true comments certainly win him the palm for the most constructive speech made by any back-bench member in the Throne Speech debate. He has opened up a line of thinking which has too long been overlooked, and it is significant that this concern for the consumer comes from a CCF spokesman for he has shown labor leaders that herein lies an alternative way in which living standards can be raised, as a change from the destructive routine of regular yearly wage demands.

Canadian Mural for Brussels Trade Fair

By ROBERT RICE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Hundreds of dusty, cloth-white plaster images gaze on a young Montreal artist as he tries to compress Canada on to a massive, mobile mural.

Like silent, romantic onlookers from a past era, they stand over a modern muralist at work.

Mario Merola, 26, winner of a $5,000 award to create a mural for Canada's pavilion at the Brussels International Trade Fair, rents the large, dim, unused atelier from the widow of Alfred Laliberte, a prolific Canadian sculptor.

It was the largest studio the young artist could find in Montreal to house his wall-size mural. At first, he found it difficult to work amid the sculptures of Laliberte.

GREAT CONTRAST
"I was distracted. I was obsessed," says black-haired Mario. "I had to look at the sculpture—all of it—before I could settle down to work on my mural."

Everywhere—on the floor, shelves, racks, over the old fireplace, under the mezzanine—Laliberte's work keeps vigil. The sculptor died in 1953 at 74.

The colorless tone of Laliberte's work contrasted with Merola's sun-bright creation. It is a modern, sand-and-pebble relief mural, fashioned in 10 panels, one for each Canadian province. Splintered color and geometric forms, like a giant kaleidoscope, attempt to capture the breadth of Canada in a mural 12½ feet by 18½ feet.

Mario works from his small, prize-winning sketch. He knows what he wants in the mural, but prefers to adapt his thoughts as he proceeds. The final step is coloring the mural with bright, luminous paints.

"It is much more interesting to grove with it than to make a monotony."

precise memo of what to do," he explains.

BORN ARTIST

The artist, son of an Italian-born tailor who liked drawing images, began experimenting with crayons when he was five. At 13, he was painting in oils, and at 15 was studying in Montreal's Ecole des Beaux-Arts.

In 1952, at 21, he won a scholarship for a year's stay in Paris, where he studied mural designs and decoration. His ambition was to be a television set designer, but "in the back of my mind" was a dream of creating huge murals.

"A mural is much better than a painting. It is right on the wall—part of the wall. It is there for everyone to see. I would like very much for architects to use more murals."

Mario plans to install spotlights when he begins coloring the panels, because the grimy windows keep the studio dark.

"I would like to clean the windows and move these things," he said, waving his hand at the sculptures, "but I was permitted in here on the condition I did not disturb Laliberte's work. It is like a museum."

WILL VISIT EUROPE

Mario hopes to complete his mural in mid-December. It will then be packed and sent to Ottawa, and shipped to Brussels to be placed at the end of a 70-foot-long cocktail lounge with glass walls in the Canadian pavilion.

With his prize money, Mario will travel to Brussels to see the mural in place. Then back to Canada, he will set himself up in the mural business, and wait for architects to knock on his studio door.

"There is so much to use for murals," says Mario, who admires the works of Paul Klee and John Miro, two European modernists. "Plastics, aluminum, rubber, plastic wood, sand, rocks—they are modern. They cut the

AROUND TOWN

Auxiliary Donates Funds to Hospital

As the end of the year draws near, many local women's clubs and organizations are disbursing funds realized during the past 12 months to fulfill various annual pledges and commitments made to their favorite charity or some other worthy public service project.

In this group is the Senior Auxiliary to the Penticton Hospital with its project of purchasing equipment for the sterile department at the local institution. Members voted to contribute $250 for additional purchases at the monthly meeting held Monday afternoon in the Health Centre.

Mrs. Graham Knight conducted the business of the meeting which dealt with this expenditure and other auxiliary matters.

Donations were received from a number of individuals and these will be applied to the fund being raised for the Canadian Cancer Society as a memorial to the late Mrs. A. S. Hatfield, a long-time member of the auxiliary.

Following adjournment of the short business session, a very interesting and comprehensive address was presented by Miss Mary Pack, executive director of the B.C. division of CARS. Miss Pack, who is currently touring the Okanagan in the interest of the society displayed a wide selection of handcraft by patients under the supervision of CARS in its many hobby centres established throughout the province.

The next meeting of the Senior Auxiliary will be held December 16 when annual reports will be submitted and a 1958 elected.

Refreshments were served to close the afternoon by Mrs. E. J. Chambers and Mrs. Lyall Chambers.

Mrs. H. H. Tyler has returned home after spending the past week in Vancouver.

More than 90 CGIT members and leaders representing groups in Penticton, Oliver, Casterton, Naramata and Summerland attended the CGIT conference held at Summerland on Saturday in the United Church with members of the centre as hosts.

The conference was held under the supervision of Mrs. M. Keen, Summerland's leader; Miss Dianne Hannah, president, and Miss Eba Richmond, secretary.

The guest speaker for the session was Miss Nancy Holman, United Church girls' work secretary for B.C. "He Is Beside Me" was the topic of her inspiring address.

The Summerland WA was supper hostess and transportation for the 50 Penticton girls attending was arranged by Mrs. Irvin Chambers.

Mrs. J. E. Freeman, Mrs. James Leighton and Mrs. Eric Miller left yesterday for Spokane where they plan to visit until Saturday.

CLOTHING DISPLAY FOR CARNIVAL

Rosalie Hoffman is seen busily working on the clothing display for the Summerland High School Open House Carnival which is to be presented this Friday evening from 7:30 to 11:00 p.m. Last year this event drew capacity crowds and it is expected to be bigger and better than ever this year. Fun is being arranged for the entire family and a carnival air is assured with the use of "Funny Money" which can be purchased at the door.

Gavel Is Blessed At CWL Meeting

The November meeting of St. Ann's Catholic Women's League was held in St. Joseph's auditorium Thursday evening with 41 members present.

Following the opening prayers, Rev. Francis Quinlan blessed the gavel, which he had previously presented to the sub-division. On this gavel is inscribed the date of the formation of the Catholic Women's League in Penticton and the name of its first president.

The members expressed appreciation to Father Quinlan for this useful gift.

Mrs. John Karroll reported that 36 visits had been made to patients in the hospital during the month of October. Mrs. Kenneth Almond and Mrs. Henry Bella volunteered to visit the hospital for the month of November. Mrs. Valerie Lund and Mrs. Robert Ferguson will serve tea for the senior citizens in their home this month.

In the Brownie and Guide report Mrs. Wilfred Gougeon disclosed that there was now a full pack of 24 Brownies and four applicants. Fifteen Brownies had received their golden bar and five were working for their golden hand.

For the Guides, Mrs. Helen Townsend reported that leaders were taking instruction in Guiding and that regular meetings would commence shortly.

Miss Margaret McLeodstocker reviewed the highlights of the national convention held recently in Saskatoon.

Mrs. William Leinweber, convener of the forthcoming parish bazaar, presented the names of the sub-conveners. They are Mrs. Maurice Finnelly, tea; Mrs. Tugo Dumont, home cooking; Mrs. James Burgart, aprons; Mrs. Kenneth Almond, pillow slips; Mrs. E. Akerman, knitting; Mrs. Walter Irwin, surprise packages; Mrs. M. Strogan, religious articles, and Miss Anne Pellicano, candy.

The members voted to set up a fund, the proceeds of which will be used to pay for crying room in the new church.

Following adjournment of the meeting, Father Quinlan introduced Mr. Pleasanton, representative of Lawson's Associates, who is in charge of the parish fund-raising campaign. Mr. Pleasanton gave an interesting and informative talk on how the campaign is to be conducted. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. William Mahoney and Mrs. Kenneth Goding.

The quarterly general meeting of the Naramata Co-operative Growers' Exchange will be held in the community hall on Thursday, November 28, at 8 p.m. General business is scheduled for the agenda.

MR. AND MRS. LYLE RICHARD EVANS

—Portrait by Stocks.

Mary Lou Phipps and Lyle R. Evans Are Principals in Autumn Ceremony

A lovely original model gown of white slipper satin, its floor-length skirt billowing over hooped crinolines, was worn by dark-haired Mary Lou Phipps when she became the bride of Lyle Richard Evans at a pretty autumn ceremony in the Penticton United Church. The gown's molded bodice was styled with long sleeves and a low round neckline defined with tiny seed pearls and sequins. A tiara of matching jewels clasped her chapel length veil of French illusion. She carried red and white carnations and wore the groom's gift, diamond earrings, to complement her ensemble.

Wedding principals are the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phipps, Sakana Lake Bench, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, Manor Park. Rev. Ernest Rands performed the candlelight service before the church altar beautifully decorated with richly colored chrysanthemums. The bride was given in marriage by her father at the double-ring ceremony.

Frocks styled alike of nylon chiffon with bouffant full-length skirts, shirred bodices and cap sleeves, and small hair circlets of matching feathers, were worn by the bride's attendant trio. Mrs. Willard Burgart, as matron of honor, carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations to harmonize with her pink frock, while bridesmaids, Miss Marie Kluck and Miss Juanita Biagioni, who were in pale blue, carried yellow and white carnations.

Warren Coulter was best man and ushers were Jack Phipps and Charles Phipps, brothers of the bride. Mrs. Monica Craig Fisher was wedding organist and Mrs. J. A. English sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

A reception followed in the Masonic hall where the many guests were received by the principals and their respective parents. Mark Roadhouse of Keremeos proposed the toast to the bride.

The silver appointed reception table was covered with a crocheted cloth and centred with a three-tier cake flanked by bowls of pink roses and graceful white tapers in silver holders. An evening of dancing followed the refreshment hour.

When the young couple left for a motor trip honeymoon to Wenatchee, Seattle and Vancouver, the bride was attired in a red wool sheath dress with tweed coat and white accessories. They are taking up residence in this city.

Among the out-of-town guests were the groom's grandmother, Mrs. E. Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ryerson, Duncan; Frank Phipps, Evelyn Smuin, Miss Marie Kluck, Vancouver; Mrs. Bill Nicholson, Port Coquitlam; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phipps and family, Trail; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Roadhouse, Keremeos; Mr. and Mrs. George Jennings, Bill Jennings, Mrs. O. Jennings, Kelowna; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nick and David of Duncan.

NARAMATA

Two Win Prizes at St. Peter's Bazaar

A record number attended the very successful annual fall bazaar and tea held Wednesday afternoon under the sponsorship of St. Peter's Anglican Church Guild. Many guests from Penticton and Poplar Grove were among those patronizing the sale booths arranged in the parish hall brightly decorated in a seasonal theme.

Featured attractions included needlework, home cooking, a white elephant booth, a treasure chest, a fish pond, afternoon tea and a raffle for a food hamper and a Christmas cake. When the draw was made for the latter attraction, the winning tickets were held by Mrs. J. A. Noyes, cake, and Eldon Baker, hamper.

Rev. Bob Wallace of Cowichan Lake will arrive in Naramata this weekend to give the next two-week lecture course beginning Monday at the Christian Leadership Training School. The "Old Testament" will be the subject of his two daily lectures at the church school.

Mrs. Stanley Dicken is in Vancouver visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dicken, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Drought and children will leave on November 29 for Vancouver where they will take up residence.

Among those who have been seriously ill in the Penticton Hospital and have now improved sufficiently to return to their respective homes are Mrs. E. Partidge and Fred Heal. The former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Partridge, have come from Saltcoats, Saskatchewan, to spend the winter in Naramata.

Miss Rosemary Newman, who is a nurse-in-training at St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, was a recent visitor in Naramata with her father and brother.

The members voted to set up a fund, the proceeds of which will be used to pay for crying room in the new church.

Following adjournment of the meeting, Father Quinlan introduced Mr. Pleasanton, representative of Lawson's Associates, who is in charge of the parish fund-raising campaign. Mr. Pleasanton gave an interesting and informative talk on how the campaign is to be conducted. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. William Mahoney and Mrs. Kenneth Goding.

The quarterly general meeting of the Naramata Co-operative Growers' Exchange will be held in the community hall on Thursday, November 28, at 8 p.m. General business is scheduled for the agenda.

Fourteen Naramata United Church Canadian Girls in Training and their leaders, Mrs. Roy Stobie, Miss Beryl Waggett and Miss Lynette Ross, were among the 90 attending the South Okanagan fall CGIT conference at Summerland last Saturday. Representatives from Penticton, Summerland, Oliver, Keremeos and Naramata were among those attending the all-day session held in the United Church with the Summerland CGIT as the host group.

Miss Nancy Holman of Vancouver, secretary for the United Church girls' work in B.C., was the theme speaker for the occasion. A program of singing and other features was concluded when the girls and leaders were entertained at a banquet by the Summerland WA.

Miss Sue Dowler, who has been visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Witt, for two weeks, left for her home in Modesto, California, on Wednesday.

Phil Lucier and Donnie Cousins returned home on Wednesday from the Kelowna General Hospital where they have been patients for some time.

Trail Climbs to Second on 4-2 Win

DEFENCEMAN NIKOLAI Solovov is captain of the Russian hockey team which will play six different Quebec and Ontario teams during playing tour of Canada. Majority of the Muscovites are veterans of international competition including the 1956 winter Olympics, won by Russia. Team play is emphasized and western observers have been amazed by the passing skill of the Russian forwards.

Front-Running Flyers Find Few Soft Touches In WIHL

TRAIL (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters moved into a tie for second place in the Western International Hockey League Thursday night as they downed the front-running Spokane Flyers 4-2 before 1,100 fans.

The win puts Smokies in a tie with Nelson for the runner-up position in the league, two points back of the Flyers.

Goalie John Sofiak in the Spokane nets kept the Smoke Eaters from running off the scoresheet. He turned aside several break-away plays and came up with the big save all evening.

But the leading goal-scorer in the league, centreman Adolf Tambellini potted what proved to be the winner at the 15:45 mark of the second period. Other goal scorers for Trail were Laurie Bursaw, Gerry Godfrey and Cal Hockley.

Lloyd Maxfield, rookie winger and top scorer for the Flyers, notched both goals for the U.C. club after a fine passing attack.

The Trail club dominated the play in the first two periods as they grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first by plastering 13 shots at Sofiak, many from close in. The weak backchecking of the Spokane club continued in the second frame as Trail counted two while Flyers potted one.

Spokane came up with their best hockey in the third period when they matched Smoke Eaters' single goal.

Four penalties were called with each club picking up two minors. Sofiak stopped 29 shots while Martin handled 17, 10 in the final period.

CAGE CONTEST ON TAP TONIGHT

Starry performers will be missing from the lineups of both teams tonight when Pentiction Freightways host Kelowna Oilers in a senior B basketball game at the high school gym.

Out of action for Kelowna will be centre Ron Young, high-scoring forward Chuck Dean and guard Bruce Butcher.

Pentiction will probably be without the services of playing coach Ray Spring, who has a leg injury and a touch of the flu.

Freightways have added another former Summerland and Pentiction high school star, Bob Parker, to their roster. The local club is also trying to obtain another top notch centre.

Preliminaries, featuring mid-jets at 6:45 and high school intermediates at 7:30, precede the main attraction which starts at 8:30.

Feeding Areas Are Considered

Experiments and observations of the South Okanagan Sportsmen's Association over the last years tend to support the belief that apple pulp, waste from the juice plant here, which is dumped in piles for winter cattle feed, is helping to improve and increase the pheasant population in this area.

As the piles of pulp tend to heat and ferment they remain more or less unfrozen and free of snow and the pheasants work them over for the seeds, which are unharmed.

No weak or sick birds have been observed around the piles and there are more pheasants in the district than for some time. Sportsmen are considering establishing five to ten acre shelter and feeding areas above the orchard levels and further back in the hills. These would be planted with a self seeding grain and brush piles provided for cover.

Osoyoos Fish Game Club Plans Banquet

A special meeting of the Osoyoos Fish and Game Club called Wednesday evening discussed the forthcoming banquet which takes place December 9.

Plans were being made to stage a banquet equally as successful as the one the Osoyoos Fish and Game Club held two years ago which was very successful and well received.

The banquet will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall in Osoyoos and will be catered by the Ladies Legion Auxiliary.

Plans are being made by the Legion Ladies and the Fish and Game Club to again decorate the hall in an appropriate manner.

It was decided that children up to an age of 14 and under will be able to be admitted for $1.00, fifty cents less than regular admission.

A number of prizes have been donated by Osoyoos merchants to be awarded at the banquet.

Christmas trees used as decorations at the banquet will be turned over to the Village of Osoyoos to be used as decorations of Main street for the festive season.

A number of B.C. Game Commission officials are expected to attend and a good program of films are being lined up.

TIGER-CATS ON PROWL

The mighty Sam Elcheverry hits the dust as Hamilton's Tony Curcio smears the Montreal quarterback for a loss — one of 10 occasions when Elcheverry was forced to "eat" the ball during the Big Four championship game. Hamilton fielded a strong defense against Alouettes' famed long pass offence to take a 17-10 verdict in the first game of the total-points, two-game series. Brilliant running of Gerry McDougall allowed Ticcats to control the ball with Gerry charging for 180 of Hamilton's 239 yards along the ground, including a 24-yard touchdown run.

U.S. COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Michigan State Seeks Top Rating

NEW YORK (CP) — There are a few incidentals such as conference titles and traditional battles to be decided in American college football Saturday but the mythical national championship is on the line at East Lansing, Mich., where the favored Michigan State Spartans take on Kansas State Wildcats.

Michigan State, ranked first in this week's Associated Press poll with a 7-1 won-lost record, will be playing their final game. If they hope to retain their top ranking the Spartans will have to whip Kansas State impressively enough to carry through the final two weekly polls and offset what likely will be an unbeaten season by Auburn.

The second-ranked Auburn T-

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Thompson, one of the main organizers of the National Hockey League Players Association, outlined a history of the association Thursday before the Ontario labor relations board.

Hearing opened on an application by Toronto Maple Leafs players to have the association certified as bargaining agent. Thompson, a defenceman, last year was with Toronto and was sold to Chicago. He is secretary of the association.

The association's proposals include three main points:

1. $7,000 minimum salary. Now there is no formal minimum though most teams recognize $6,500.

2. Adjustments in the pension plan. The players want stronger representation on the plan's board of governors, a study of the plan and contributions to it by owners or a share of the income from television games.

The board now includes five members chosen by the owners. Two are players. The plan's funds include $900 a year from each player, two-thirds of the proceeds from the annual all-star game and 25 cents from each ticket in the Stanley Cup playoffs. There has never been a detailed analysis of the plan.

3. Less control over players with service in the league. The association wants a player with enough years of service to be a free agent if he is waived out of the league. Now he remains the property of the team if no other team is willing to pay the $15,000 waiver price.

Chicago Rookie Great Prospect

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Young hockey players who never reach the peaks predicted for them by National Hockey League scouts are common, but Chicago Black Hawks have a youngster who has surpassed even the hopes of his most ardent supporter.

He is Bobby Hull, a husky blond 18-year-old, who might be expected to be rocking and rolling to music and not the bone-rattling bodychecks of NHL defencemen.

Three years ago the Point Anne, Ont., product was spotted by a Black Hawk scout who enthusiastically predicted he would be in the NHL at 18. He's there now and he won't be 19 till Jan. 3.

The 190-pound centre is the youngest player in Hawk history and probably one of the youngest to ever play in the NHL, rivaling the ages of some of the fuzzy-cheeked juniors who were brought up during the lean war years.

Tonight he will be trying to add to his three-goal, nine-assist record as the third-place Hawks are hosts to league-leading New York Rangers.

Hull's performance over the early part of the season, centring Jack McIntyre and Ron Murphy and taking the pivot position on power plays, makes him a hot candidate for the Calder Trophy as the league's outstanding rookie.

All his boosters aren't in the Chicago camp.

Stafford Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs, never an easy man with praise, is one of them.

"He's a lot of hockey player," Smythe says, and adds "he's also overshadowing our Frank Mahov-lich, isn't he?" Smythe has rueful memories of Hull. Last year Leafs' Ontario Hockey Association Junior A team, Toronto Marlboros, beat Hull's squad, St. Catharines Teepees, seven in a row while without Hull. He returned to the team and Teepees knocked Marlboros out of the semi-finals.

BOBBY HULL

... Great at 17

Smythe figures Hull has a good shot at the Calder unless another rookie, Rangers' sensational prospect Marcel Paille, "keeps kicking them out in the fashion to which Rangers have become accustomed."

"Goalies get more attention," Smythe says. Hawks probably don't care as long as Hull keeps knocking them in and setting them up in his present style.

Rods Gunning For Third Straight Title

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Rods will be gunning for an unprecedented third consecutive Canadian junior football title here Saturday when they meet the powerful eastern champion Toronto Parkdale Lions.

Rods gave Winnipeg its first junior championship in 1955 when they whipped Windsor, Ont., AKO 13-13 at the same Winnipeg stadium where this year's battle will get under way at 2:30 p.m. CST. They repeated in Toronto last year, winning over the Parkdale squad 21-10 in a bruising game.

IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Mantle Voted Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was voted the American League's most valuable player of the 1957 season today by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

It was the second consecutive MVP award for the star centre fielder but, unlike 1956 when he polled the maximum 336 points, Mantle barely beat runner-up Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Roy Sievers of Washington Senators. Mantle had 233 points, Williams 209 and Sievers 205.

Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox finished fourth with 193 points and Gil McDougald of the Yankees was fifth with 165.

PERENNIAL SECOND

It was the fourth time in his brilliant career with the Red Sox that Williams finished second in the most valuable player balloting. The great slugger won the award in 1946 and 1949. Ironically in each of his runner-up finishes, it was a Yankee who beat him.

Ted finished second to Joe DiMaggio in 1941 despite his spectacular .406 batting average. The following year he paced the league in practically all offensive departments but lost by 21 points to Joe Gordon. His margin of defeat in 1947 was just one point, when DiMaggio again won.

Others named in the voting this year were Vic Wertz, slugging Cleveland first baseman; Frank Malzone, Red Sox third baseman; Minnie Minoso, Chicago outfielder; Jim Bunning, Detroit pitcher and Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder.

BANNER SEASON

Mantle enjoyed a banner season although it did not measure

MICKEY MANTLE

up to his sensational power hitting of the previous year when he led in batting, runs batted in and home runs.

His .365 batting average, although 12 points higher than his '56 mark, was not good enough to win the championship. Neither were his 34 home runs nor his 94 runs batted in. Mantle missed much of the final three weeks of the season, however, because of a serious case of shin splints.

Williams, at 39, captured his fifth batting title with a mark of .388, his highest since topping .400 in '41. He hammered 38 home runs although he, too, missed three weeks of the season.

SOVIET CLUB LOOKS SHARP

Hungry Russians May Make Meal of Dunlops

TORONTO (CP) — The members of the visiting Russian hockey team, who are reported eating two large steaks each at one sitting, may make a meal of Whitby Dunlops tonight.

Such hockey judges as Chicago Black Hawks' scout Bob Wilson, Ken Reardon, vice-president of Montreal Canadiens, and Bobby Bauer, former Boston Bruins great, among others, have expressed surprise and admiration for the hockey excellence displayed by the Moscow team in their workouts.

Bauer and Reardon watched Thursday's hour-long drill at Maple Leaf Gardens and Bauer praised the Russian shooting. Reardon was astonished by their passing.

The Chicago scout's contribution to the praise was to place an 18-year-old centre star for the Russians, Veniamin Alexandrov, on the National Hockey League negotiation list.

If the hockey pundits are right the Russian team should outskate, outshoot and outpace the Dunlops, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships at Oslo later this winter. But there are some reservations.

Nobody has seen the Russians do any bodychecking. Under international amateur hockey rules, players may bodycheck in their own half of the ice and, though the Russians can be expected to have practised body contact, it isn't expected they have the mastery Canadian players develop at an early age.

The Moscow team is said to be away from his Russian team.

they'd be cheaper by the gallon

It costs plenty to raise a family these days. But if youngsters, like your car, ran on gasoline you'd be better off.

Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.

But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 120 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent—less than a third as much.

And what's more—today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.

From This Corner

By GARTH WILTON

The Edmonton Eskimos were one yard from football oblivion Wednesday night.

It was by that margin that Gerry James' attempted 35-yard field goal sailed wide of the uprights in the dying seconds of the game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union finals.

At the time the Eskimos, who rolled to 14 wins in 16 starts in league play, were nursing a meagre 5-4 lead.

They owed that to the special brand of Mississippi magic practiced by Jack Dickerson Parker, a professional football player without peers. Parker's play gave them the lead, and then when it was threatened in the final seconds, he saved it with a tremendous defensive play.

In the fourth quarter, with the Bombers leading 4-2, Parker passed twice, and carried once as the Eskimos moved the ball from their own 35-yard line to the Winnipeg seven. The Blue Bomber defences tightened and Mobra booted a field goal to put the Grey Cup champions out in front by a one-point margin, 5-4.

Then, with the 19,000 fans in a frenzy, it was Winnipeg's turn. From their own 35 they moved the ball to the Edmonton 24 on three plays, a Ploen to Fitts to James pass and two line smashes by Lewis and James. Then the Eskimos held.

On third down, James tried for the three points. The ball was wide and Parker kicked it out to the Edmonton 35.

Vincent then punted, trying for the tying point. It was short and Parker gathered it in on the one.

Most of the experts had figured the Eskimos would win in a breeze. But they didn't show the script to the fired-up Bombers.

But for young Mr. Parker, the Winnipeg crew would have clinched a berth in the Grey Cup game, Eskimos gained 40 yards via the aerial route on four completions in seven attempts. Of those 40 yards, Parker picked up 31 on his passes to Bill Walker for eight yards and Mobra for 23 in the downfield drive that netted them their final three points.

The gritty Blue Bombers lost more than a ball game, however, as fullback Charlie Shepard and halfback Pete Mangum picked up injuries and probably will be lost to the club for Saturday night's game.

Meanwhile, the bookmakers are quoting the Eskimos as 14-point favorites to take the final series and represent the west in the Grey Cup game for the fourth straight year.

Freshman coach Bud Grant, whose inspired defensive corps gave up only 12 points in two games, had an answer for that: "It'll be a tough game Saturday night — for Edmonton."

Nobody knows it better than the Eskimos. They've had a taste of the type of football the big, bold Blue Bombers are capable of dishing out.

This is no longer a cocky, confident Eskimo team. They're fighting for Grey Cup survival against the toughest opponents they've met in the past three years. They have the bruises to remind them of it.

Trimble's Way Is Winning Way

HAMILTON — (CP) — Ask coach Jim Trimble what he looked for when he built this season's Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the answer is simple — a team that could hold the ball.

He had half the job done with last year's team — a strong defence that could stop the other team, and get the ball.

The other half he built into this year's team — an offense featuring a strong running attack that can grind out yards and keep the ball.

This impressive organization goes on display again Saturday when Ti-Cats conclude their two-game, total-point Big Four Football League final against Montreal Alouettes at Hamilton.

UP THE CENTRE
The fans heard of Eddie Macdon's outside speed while with Calgary Stampede and as a broken field runner. But all they have seen in Chester Goodie Gilchrist and Gerry McDougall running up the centre.

Last year the fans saw Tony Curcillo as a better-than-average passer who mixed his plays in a delightfully reckless way. This year they've seen Curcillo as one of the league's best linebacksers and more recently as a hard-running halfback from Gilchrist's spot — but also up the middle.

But Trimble is sure of one thing. The fans would rather have it this way and be number one than the old way and anything else.

BROUGHT RESULTS
The Trimble system hasn't brought acclaim from the fans but it did bring first place in the Big Four final standings for the first time in four years and so far it has brought Hamilton seven points closer to the Grey Cup final than Montreal's wide-open type of play.

Grid Coaches Dig Out Crying Towel

EDMONTON (CP) — Head coach Frank Ivy says his Edmonton Eskimos can defeat Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night in the deciding game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

"If," he added Thursday night, "we can hold them to four points, we can win." "Of course, they can just as easily beat us if they can hold us to five points."

That's about as far as Ivy will go at any time in predicting a football game, especially when it's the third game of the best-of-three series in which his club has lost 19-7 and won 5-4.

HURT TWICE AS BAD
"Grant keeps crying about injuries," Ivy said, referring to Bomber head coach Harry Bud Grant. "Well, we've got twice as many and they're twice as bad and we have had them all along."

"They're not hurtin' as much as they make out," Ivy made the statement after his club worked out for 70 minutes in the chill of Thursday evening at Clarke Stadium where the deciding game of the final will be played Saturday at 8:30 p.m. MST.

His medical staff reported defensive end Frank Anderson and fullback Mike Dushuk still unable to suit up for Saturday night with knee and ankle miseries.

Halfback-quarterback Jackie Parker, whose punted return of a wide field goal attempt on the second-last play Wednesday night preserved Eskimos 5-4 victory, and tackle Reed Henderson were unable to run in the workout Thursday night. They stood around on sore legs and watched their teammates work.

Halfback Rollie Miles was still having knee troubles; linebacker Ted Tully has a sore back; fullback Normie Kwong a bruised pelvis and most of the others assorted bruises and ailments.

BOMBERS UNDER MASSAGE
Grant roused Bombers from their hotel beds Thursday morning for sessions with the whirlpool baths, the rubbing tables and the medics. In the afternoon, the players ran through exercises and light running for 35 minutes. Thursday night they met for chalk talks.

Fullback Charlie Shepard, who re-injured his hip Wednesday night, and halfback Pete Mangum, who suffered a sprained ankle, were not running in the afternoon workout.

"Mangum didn't get out of bed this morning," Grant said. "The ankle is pretty bad, but he'll probably dress. The important thing is to keep him in the dressing room with the team and taking part."

Grant said Shepard and Mangum had the most serious injuries, but every player on the club was suffering bruises on bruises.

BIG FOUR FINAL

Alouettes in High Spirits

MONTREAL (CP)—Les Alouettes leave today for Hamilton and the windup of the Big Four football final with an upsurge of morale in keeping with their name.

From a dressing room deep in Westmount Stadium after practice Thursday came carefree bursts of song. Les Alouettes—the larks—were whooping things up in as gay a fashion as if they and not Hamilton's Tiger-Cats, carried a seven-point margin into Saturday's all-important game.

The practice itself was a serious affair. I was behind locked gates and doors at the Als' practice field. There was picture-taking, too, of the team that hopes to go into the Grey Cup game for the fourth straight time—and win this one.

The players trotted grimly to their dressing room. Then what was almost an air of tension suddenly snapped. The singing broke loose.

KNOW CAT WEAKNESSES
As the players left the stadium, Pat Abbruzzi, burly fullback, was asked what went on at the practice.

"What would you expect?" countered Pat. "We've played Hamilton six times this season and we certainly should know their weaknesses by now."

That might have been a tip-off on what coach Douglas Fenech Walker has been aiming at in practices all week—exploit every possible Hamilton weakness.

The Als will have to do that if they hope to make up those seven points in this second game of the total-point, two-game final. They lost the first game in Montreal last Saturday 17-10.

Offensively, the Als will have to improve their blocking so quarterback Sam Etcheverry can shoot rifle passes without finding himself buried under prowling Cats before he can lift his arm.

Defensively, if last Saturday's game can be taken as a criterion, the Als will have to stop the Hamilton backfield from breaking loose for long gains.

Kid Chocolate Gets Pardon On Drug Charge

HAVANA (AP) — Kid Chocolate, once the idol of Cuba's fight fans, won't have to serve a seven-months jail sentence for possessing one marijuana cigarette.

President Fulgencio Batista agreed to pardon him providing he received proper medical care so that he eventually could seek employment, it was learned on Thursday.

He was arrested last January but was not tried until November, Cuban Sports Association officials and fans came to his aid as soon as they learned of his plight and appealed to President Batista.

The Kid denied that he was ever a user of marijuana but said he had long suffered stomach ulcers and his health had rapidly deteriorated in recent years.

SLINGIN' SAM

Sam Etcheverry, the brilliant pass master of the Montreal Alouettes, will be trying to pitch his team into the Grey Cup final Saturday when the Als and Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet in the second game of their two-game total-point series for the Big Four championship. Tiger-Cats took a seven-point lead last Saturday, defeating Montreal 17-10 in a game that was marred by mob violence.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

(Top Record Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

QUIZ
You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West North East South
1♠ 2♥ 3♦ 4♣
2♥ 3♦ 4♣ 5♥
3♦ 4♣ 5♥ 6♠
4♣ 5♥ 6♠ 7♥

What do you now bid with each of the following hands?

- ♠AQT ♥5 ♦J65 ♣KJ862
- ♠AQ ♥J85 ♦AJ762 ♣K9
- ♠J865 ♥AT7 ♦AK2 ♣Q85
- ♠AQJ9543 ♥5 ♦Q72 ♣J8

1. Three clubs. North's information double states in effect that he has an opening bid, and requests partner to respond in the light of that information. Since responder acts under the compulsion of the double, any minimum bid, such as one spade or two clubs, would not necessarily show strength. On the contrary, either bid might be based on a poor hand and would show only length in the suit named.

When the responder has a good hand (at least 10 points) opposite the information double, he is duty-bound to show his values by making more than a minimum response. In the present case, the skip to three clubs informs the doubler that there appear to be sufficient values in the two hands to justify an eventual game contract. The intention is to bid spades at the next opportunity, in which case North will know the spade suit is only four cards long.

2. Two no trump. With an opening bid facing an opening bid, a jump response is in order. Because an eleven-trick game contract in diamonds seems remote from a no-trump game, the diamond suit is suppressed. The lack of a spade stopper should be discounted. It is extremely likely North will show up with adequate spade strength.

3. Two hearts. With 14 high card points facing an information double, a game contract must be reached. The difficulty consists of finding the right spot to play the game in.

It is not desirable to jump the bid to two no-trump with only one heart stopper. There is too much danger that a long heart suit can be run before nine tricks in no-trump can be cashed. Nor is it desirable to respond with two spades on a suit so weak. Partner, in such case, would properly assume a better spade suit, and might go on to the wrong contract.

The strength of the hand, and the uncertainty of where to play a game contract, are best represented by cue-bidding the opponent's suit. If North is unable to bid spades, either a no-trump or minor suit game can be undertaken.

4. Four spades. A game contract is clearly called for, and the best place to play it cannot be in doubt. The inflexible nature of the hand is best portrayed by leaping directly to game.

Tomorrow: Disarming the dangerous opponent.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Ben Gazzara Said A Disappointment

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ben Gazzara is in town, and he isn't the least bit sorry.

The Broadway sensation is here for a rare TV appearance on CBS's Playhouse 90 tonight. He found him courteous, conscientious and constructive. He even had kind things to say about Hollywood. What a disappointment.

One could expect more fireworks from Gazzara. After all, he was a prime portrayer of Angry Young Men in stage hits Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and A Hatful of Rain.

"I go where the material is," he explained. "The reason I won't sign with a studio is because I won't let myself get involved with projects I'm not enthusiastic about."

PAYS OFF
"But I realize that it pays to have certain ties to one studio. After all, you can't expect them to give you good roles if they can't count on you for something in return."

For that reason, he may finally succumb to Hollywood. His only picture so far has been The Strange One, in which he played a strange one indeed—a sadistic cadet in a southern U.S. military academy. Taken from the play he starred in, End as a Man, it was filmed in Florida by independent Producer Sam Spiegel. No hit here, the film is doing big business abroad, Gazzara said.

Now MGM wants him to regenerate his role in Cat on a Hot Tin Roof opposite Elizabeth Taylor. He may allow himself to be had.

TOO HIGH

There had been reports that Gazzara had held out for a lot of loot from the film studios. Figures as high as $150,000 a picture have been mentioned.

"Ridiculous," he commented. "I'm not an unrealistic to think I'm worth that. After all, I'm an unproven commodity at the box office."

The mention of $100,000 appeared to be true. That's still a lot for an actor who has never made a Hollywood film.

Unlike some New York actors who grab the money and flee with scorn, Gazzara had kind words to say about the film town.

"I don't think you can look down at Hollywood," he said. "I think there are just as many good writers, directors and actors here as there are in New York."

"Don't worry, Auntie. Spots knows it's not a live rabbit."

WEATHERMAN FAVORS EAST, BLOWS COLD ON WEST

Eastern Canada is due for above normal temperatures, and slightly above normal rainfall, for the next few weeks, says the U.S. weather bureau. Western Canada seems to be in disfavor with the weatherman, having a wide cold front extending from the coast well into the prairies.

WATERWORKS BACKGROUND

How Water Supply Might Be Boosted

In this fifth instalment from a comprehensive report on the background of Penticton's waterworks problems, the 1956 report of Associated Engineering Services Ltd. is extensively quoted on possibilities for increasing the city's water supply. —Editor.

Possibilities of increasing the water supply, Penticton Creek No. 2 reservoir, and for carrying out certain work at Corporation Meadows storage.

The survey revealed the storage basin of approximately a few hundred acre feet capacity. Additional drill hole data along with central line will be required before a final opinion regarding suitability of the site can be given. The drill holes are necessary to provide data on the foundation soils by the dam. Total estimated cost, $80,400. This will provide estimated storage of 200 acre feet.

Crow Brothers Dam—This is an existing private dam, located on sub-lot 8 on the headwaters of Stewart Creek. It has a water shed estimated at approximately 250 acres. The existing dam is in very poor shape. It was unanimously agreed with Mr. Spiller and Mr. Wiltse, both of whom were intimately familiar with the territory that the proposal was not economically feasible, as it would necessitate an expensive flume construction program over very rough territory.

Boulder Creek Storage—It had been suggested that a possible reservoir site exists at the headwaters of Boulder Creek. A party of city employees, headed by Spiller, investigated this possibility and arrived at the conclusion that the expensive construction of an access road to the site would not be warranted by the amount of storage water obtainable.

AMPLE STORAGE

Ellis Creek Storage—It appears that existing storage on Ellis Creek is ample to supply the present and future requirements of the Ellis Creek-Irrigation System. A number of possibilities exist, however, for the developing of additional storage in the Ellis Creek Storage, which may then be used to augment the supply from Penticton Creek.

Ellis Creek No. 4—The present storage is approximately 600 acre feet. This dam has had a very unfortunate history in that it has apparently failed twice since being constructed originally in 1933, and would indicate that a very detailed study would have to be made in this structure before plans could be prepared for increasing its height. The construction of a new dam downstream from the existing structure would in all probability be required. We have made a rough estimate of $100,000 as the cost of this work.

Sub-lots 1 and 2—Additional potential reservoir sites above Ellis No. 4 reservoir. Estimates of the cost of constructing these dams are given. They are: Sub-lot 1, 307 acre foot storage capacity, $126,866. Sub-lot 2, 340 acre foot storage capacity, $73,030.

Additional storage possibilities on Penticton to store an additional 1,000 to 1,200 acre feet of water would cost approximately $203,000.

800. On Ellis Creek, possible additional storage of 3,347 to 3,547 acre feet, $503,716.

In order to utilize Ellis Creek as a source of domestic water, additional storage will be required as well as modification to the present intake works; the construction of a pressure line and tie-in to the existing domestic water system; the supply line would be sized to meet the future requirements of the city.

It is considered therefore, that additional distribution storage could be dispensed with for considerable time. The proposed supply line would then terminate in the existing ground storage reservoir. This line would be of adequate size to supply the irrigation area presently served by the flume along the north side of Ellis Creek.

The estimated costs of this are as follows: Additional storage, $299,916; intake work, $30,000; pipe line, 6,200 feet, "24" line, $135,160; connection to reservoir control, $10,000. Total, $465,076.

NEWS IN BRIEF

VOTE TO END STRIKE

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — About 80,000 government workers have voted to end a two-day strike that paralyzed Ceylon's railways and cut off electric power. The government promised to hold talks Saturday on the men's demand for an increase in the basic wage.

GENERAL STRIKE PROTEST

TRIESTE, Italy (Reuters) — An eight-hour general strike began here in protest against the use of riot police to break up a parade of shipyard workers last Saturday.

SHOOT UP COURTHOUSE

MASERU, Basutoland (Reuters) — A crazed African bomber and shot up a courtroom, injuring 14 persons, and then shot himself to death. The man, Ramachaea Mohlolo, had been summoned to the native court by his chief for a minor infraction of the law.

U.S. Air Force Protests Army Missile Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says the U.S. Air Force has placed a policy paper before the joint chiefs of staff "taking exception to army proposals for a major program to develop anti-missile missiles."

A Washington dispatch says the air force questions whether army development of a weapon to destroy long-range enemy ballistic missiles is advanced far enough to warrant huge expenditures.

The Times printed a Washington story yesterday saying the Eisenhower administration was being urged by the army to spend between $6,000,000,000 and $7,000,000,000 to produce an operational anti-missile by 1961.

Police Under Investigation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York state police who broke up and investigated a "gangland conference" a week ago were under investigation themselves.

Governor Averell Harriman disclosed last night that he had ordered a number of inquiries by state agencies into the mobster meeting. One of them directs the state police superintendent to submit "a complete report on the conduct of the raid."

There has been criticism of the state police superintendent to over the prompt release of the participants in the meeting.

There has also been speculation that the meeting was held to divide up the interests of mobster Albert Anastasia, who was slain last month while sitting in a barber's chair in New York City.

Defence Budget To Be Presented

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Peckham is preparing to present his department's estimates to the Commons, possibly next week.

Officials said yesterday that if the estimates are lower than those presented by the Liberals early this year, the reductions will be "very slight."

The Liberal government asked Parliament to approve defence expenditures of $1,722,800,000 in the fiscal year which ends next March 31.

But Parliament never got around to approve the estimates before the summer general election and the new Progressive Conservative government can, if it wishes, present new estimates.
